Susana di Palma founded Zorongo Flamenco 30 years ago to bring to Minnesota the Spanish art form of Flamenco, with its percussive dancing, vigorous guitar strumming and soulful singing.

She and her dancers build on the traditional forms to create works that are thought-provoking, pulse-quickenning and exhilaratingly beautiful.

To celebrate its 30th anniversary, the troupe is being joined by an outstanding Gypsy guitarist named Chuscales, singer Kina Mendez and other Spanish musicians and dancers. The program is called "Flamenco on Fire," and it features a new work by di Palma inspired by the paintings of Francisco Goya.

8 p.m. Friday and Saturday ; Goodale Theater, Cowles Center, 528 Hennepin Ave., Mpls.; $30; 612-206-3600 or thecowlescenter.org.
