Studio Building and Ventilation Protocols

Being in an enclosed indoor space, sharing the same air for a prolonged period (> than 10 minutes) increases the chances of exposure and infection. Standard social distancing guidelines of 6-feet are not as effective as the time of exposure is increased, and even a low dose of virus is within the air.

1. Zorongo requires the following protocol to increase air circulation in the studio

- a. Your teacher will open all windows to the studio, and they will remain open during all rehearsals and classes including,
 - o the entry door to the studio will be left open to increase airflow, and
 - o the air conditioner fan must be turned on, and the floor fan turned on and blowing out the entry door.
 - o The rear door to the hallway will not remain open during rehearsal or classes.
